BRINGING HOPE & PURPOSE

We are grateful for the chance to share the impact of our ministry's work in Kenya. We have taken on additional responsibilities at the university. Cinci works in the registrar's office, and Moses has been asked to lead the practical ministry department. These voluntary roles allow us to influence students' lives meaningfully through discipleship, mentoring, and coaching.

Over the past two months, we have experienced an incredible surge in student participation, with over 60 students enrolling in our co-mentoring groups aimed at nurturing and equipping them for a purposeful life. This significant increase in student involvement is a testament to the growing impact of the ministry work in the university.

“...their dedication and energy in spreading their message of hope and purpose...is a testament to their commitment.”

EQUIPPING THEM FOR A PURPOSEFUL LIFE

Cinci is currently providing guidance and support to eight students by utilizing a mentoring manual by Tim Elmore. This manual assists them in exploring 32 distinct biblical relationships that have had a transformative impact on the world. The main objective is to cultivate a new generation of student mentors who will, in turn, offer guidance to younger individuals.

This trimester, Moses is guiding a cohort of 30 students through a comprehensive course focused on effectively communicating the principles of the gospel. As a result, many of these students have not just started sharing their faith but have done so with an enthusiasm that is truly inspiring. Their dedication and energy in spreading their message of hope and purpose both in person and through online platforms is a testament to their commitment and a joy to witness.
